Statement

I am intrigued by objects that were once heralded as beautiful but through time are cast off as unacceptable. In this series, wallpaper from old Maine farmhouses, once a mark of prosperity, have been witness to everyday life of everyday people. They have absorbed those memories. As time passed, new fresh wallpaper covered the old. That layering of wallpaper is mirrored in the layering of the encaustic painting process. This time, the wallpaper is accepted for where it is now. The wax creates both texture and luminous levels of celebration.
